1 The story

Next week is Eid. Adam's family is going to travel to his grandfather's village. It is a small village near the Nile, about three hours from Khartoum.

They are going to take the bus early in the morning. Tonight, Adam's mother is going to bake Eid cookies, and his father is going to buy new clothes for the children. Adam is going to wear a new white shirt.

In the village, they are going to visit all their uncles, aunts, and cousins. Adam's grandfather is going to sit under the big tree and tell old stories, and the children are going to play football by the river.

But there is one problem. Adam's little brother, Hamza, is very excited. "I'm going to eat one hundred cookies!" he says. His mother laughs. "You aren't going to eat one hundred, Hamza. You are going to eat two!"

A

Last week was Eid. My family traveled to my grandfather's village near the Nile. We took the bus early in the morning, and the trip was three hours long.

The night before, my mother baked Eid cookies, and my father bought new clothes for us. I wore a new white shirt.

In the village, we visited all our uncles, aunts, and cousins. My grandfather sat under the big tree and told old stories, and we played football by the river.

And Hamza? He ate two cookies, then three, then ten! My mother wasn't happy, but Hamza was!

4 What did you learn?

You learned be going to.

We use it for plans, things we decided to do in the future. After the plan happens, we use the past simple.

I	HE · SHE · IT	YOU · WE · THEY
I'm going to travel.	He's going to bake.	We're going to play.
I'm not going to go.	She isn't going to cook.	They aren't going to stay.
Am I going to win?	Is he going to come?	What are you going to do?

4 What did you learn? (continued)
